The Trifecta Report

The best trades are the ones in which you have all three things going for you: fundamentals, technical, and market tone. ~ Michael Marcus

Weekly Summary

S&P 500

UST 10yr Bonds

Gold EURUSD

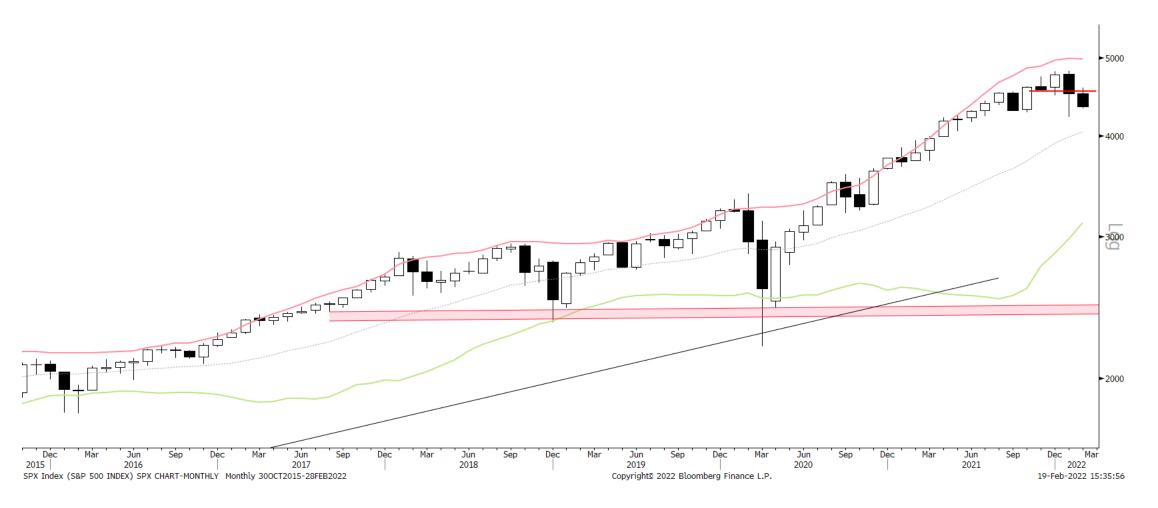

> Summary: Short-term sentiment > and positioning indicators are at extreme bearish/oversold levels. However, credit is still the canary in the coal mine and makes aggressively adding risk here a negative EV proposition. The rate of change in yields is at levels that typically leads to further multiple compression and risk-off. Breadth is still weak and the VIX curve is bearish. Path of least resistance remains down. Major support at 4,300. Critical for market to hold this level. Expect further chop and vol with risk to downside.

Summary: Bonds completed a large H&S top. Price action and the tape favor continued downside in bonds (yields up) though they are very oversold which is why we went long this week on the reversal up from its multi-day wedge. Play for a quick pop. Will ride stops close.

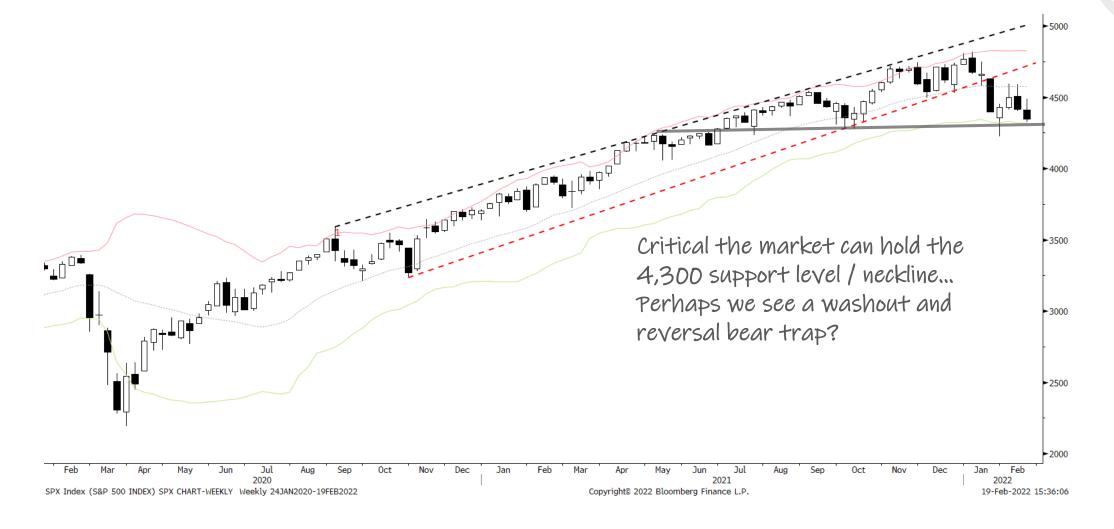

its major 2yr triangle and its smaller wedge. It also cleared November highs this past week. Positioning and sentiment are both firmly bearish. And the market is now in a Bull Quiet regime. We want to see silver join in to confirm a new bull trend. The fact that geopol risk seems to be driving this move makes me hesitant to get too aggressively long here but we'll be adding a small starter position this week.

Summary: EURUSD saw a large bear trap reversal recently, right off its lower monthly Bollinger Band. Sentiment and positioning are very bearish. All indicators are shifting in favor of EURUSD. It's likely the EURUSD "January Effect" means the lows for the year were just put in for the euro. It may be putting in the right shoulder of an inverted H&S bottom. Will get interested to the long side if it clears the neckline.
